Having visited the factory and met with the owners, we have seen, at first hand, the investment they put back into local community projects. They not only offer financial assistance, but hands-on expertise – with regards to helping convert farmers who still use traditional farming methods – to using organic alternatives i.e no harmful pesticides or insecticides.

The FAIRTRADE Mark ensures that small-scale cotton farmers in developing countries receive a fair and stable price and the additional Fairtrade Premium for social, economic and environmental projects.
